S triving toward a goal of helping patients achieve their beauty and health ideals throughout their lifetimes, Dr. Kevin Tehrani offers a variety of enhancement options to help dramatically improve his patients' self-confidence, which can be life-changing. Going the extra mile to provide patients with a better surgical experience, Dr. Tehrani created an iPhone app for use before, during and after the consultation phase. Known as iLipo, the app allows patients to take their own picture and alter it to portray their desired results. "We're currently also working on an update to the app, which will give patients the ability to communicate with us, make appointments and see post-op instructions."
